Austin, Minnesota

School Opens

As our friend, Joe Schmoe, goes happily through the Austinian's pages, so Fran Flitton and Fred Requa represent Austin's students who anticipate a busy school year.

Included in school are many outside activities. Everybody waits for the first football game, and with the falling snow comes the basketball season. Besides sports, there are club meetings. These are some of the reasons our friends look forward to the year.

When Fran and Fred return to school in the fall, they see the many changes the school underwent during the summer months. With the help of gallons of pastel colored paint, faculty members transformed the drab tan classroom walls to sunny tints. Combining the counselors' offices and adding fluorescent lights in many rooms are improvements that make Austin High School in Austin, Minnesota, shine like a new dime.

Busy Helpers Work

Do you say thanks often enough to the busy helpers who run Austin High School so capably? As you dash to the cafeteria to make sure you are not the last one in line, or fly out of the door at 3:19 to catch your bus home, stop to think of all of the people who serve you untiringly in a variety of ways.

When you are upset over that pair of shell-rimmed glasses you lost, your first thought is, "I'll ask the girls at the Lost and and Found."

About two years ago the Driver's Training course, to make teen-agers better drivers, was begun in our high school. Because of the school's efficient instructor and the wide range of training he gives, Austin's youth has become more skilled at driving.

Unconsciously we associate teachers and students with the running of a school. Every bit as important to schol and its work is the trusty custodian who works late into the night giving our school its daily face-lifting. Cleaning up the classrooms and halls, operating the floodlights for plays and repairing the school desks are just some of his innumerable duties.

With these indispensable service groups Austin High is a working machine in itself.

Students Get Hungry

Hungry as you may be, you have to wait patiently in line to pay the cashier before you dive into that tempting dish.

Drivers Practice Safety

While Joan Leck and Elizabeth Eisterhold climb into the back seat, Mr. Richard White gives Bernice Hanson a few instructions.

Bus Riders Leave

School bus driver Chris Schiek carefully checks students as they enter the bus to make sure none are left behind. Passengers ready for the daily ride home are Don Carpenter, Adeline Frondal, and Genevieve Chapek.

Girls Sort Articles

Getting a few laughs as they rummage through piles of clothes at the Lost and Found desk are Joann Orcutt, Beverly Norris, and Petra Neilsen. Unusual things such as a single boot and service caps are found occasionally.

Custodians Co-operate

Judging from the grins on the faces of Mr. Charles Anderson and Mr. Edward Mithuen, they are enjoying their backstage job on class play night although they are never cast in any of the plays themselves.

Come Right In

Welcoming Beverly Yaste and Jerry Nangle to a pot-luck supper is Mrs. Edward Flitton. You can tell from Jerry's old racoon coat which belongs to his father's age that it was one of our coldest winters.

Some Work Is Like Play

As fall begins, the school bell rings to announce the opening of another school term. It is a welcome sound to us after three months of glorious fun. Everyone is eager to meet new friends, to talk with old ones, and to experience being a year older in high school. With our football games, the annual fall music concert, and class play, all drawing crowds, this season is very important.

Winter is filled with more than its share of things to do. Fans flock to cheer the wrestling and swimming teams, and who could forget to stand in line early for a good seat at the basketball games? Bunking parties, potluck suppers, and sleigh rides are typical of the many activities that keep us well occupied while winter howls its greeting to us during the shivering cold months.

Choir Members Relax

DeVonne Blowers and Jeanne Lang decide to do a little vocalizing just for fun. They have the help of Lois Cummings at the piano.

Day Is Done

The dismissal bell has just rung as Dixie Ingersoll, Joyce Brooks, and Dick Ellingboe rust out of the building. Dave Walker, Norma Ofstedahl, and Dave Thorson compare notes before they head for home.

Again, It's Just Work

Watching the snow melt away and hearing the birds return from their winter vacation, most of us experience a dreamy feeling commonly called spring fever. It is at this time that seniors begin to feel a pang of regret at leaving their alma mater and wish they were freshmen again. On the contrary, lower class students are reminded that they will be upper classmen next year.

When summer rolls around, that painful thought, "Where can I get a job for the next three months?" confronts many students. If you are too young to work downtown, maybe a babysitting job is what you are looking for. If, however, you are over sixteen, clerking, playground supervision, and secretarial work offer opportunities to you. You can always use extra dollars.

Baby Sitting Can Be Fun

Peggy Ryks is having as much fun babysittingwith Robbie and Mary Lonning as they are having playing in their sandbox.

We Come to School

If you should see a crowd standing on a street corner around 7:30 in the morning, you might wonder where they are going. But, as many of us know, these are students waiting for the city bus which takes them to school. Our many country students arrive in a fleet of school busses. Those of us who have neighbors or parents leaving for work about this time choose to ride to school with them to make class by 8:00 a. m. or 1:15 p. m.

A few lucky students depend on their own cars or the family car as a means of transportation. Depending on the weather, motor bikes, scooters, or bicycles take a number of our boys to and from school.

We have a large number of ambitious (or economical) students who arrive out of breath after walking to school with friends.

Students Study

What would school be without occasional studying? We all engage in some amount of it although this may appear questionable at times. Too often the effort is put forth in the hope of just 'getting by'.

Some of us study with the motive of attaining a coveted place on the honor roll. Friendly rivalries among friends may also have a bearing on the amount of studying done. For others, outside compensation or reward for high marks provides the inspiration for study. A few lucky students enjoy school-work because it just comes naturally to them. We study with many good intentions, one of which is to improve ourselves for college, vocation, jobs, or whatever comes after high school.

Students may be found studying on the bus to school in the morning, just before classes in classrooms, and sometimes even in study halls. If nothing else to do presents itself, home may the scene of the studying.

And Also Relax

In most classes there seems to be an atmosphere of interest and cooperation. Classes may be required subjects or electives, or extra-curricular activities in which we participate because of personal interests or individual talents. These may be drama, writing, music, or art.

Regardless of why we study, knowledge is available, and it is left to the individual to use it to his best advantage.

Jobs Help Finances

Part time employment gives many high school students chances to earn extra pin money. It also gives valuable experience for after-graduation jobs.

Our Royalty Reigns

Homecoming brought with it an air of excitement, which began weeks before the big day and prevailed all through various events from the traditional snake dance through the eagerly-awaited mixer.

At the coronation, the silence following the skit was broken by 'ooh' and 'ah' as Mary Lou Regner, Phyllis Nagel, Helen Wheeler, Joan Nelson, and Dona Arnold entered in pastel formals. Queen Mary Lou was crowned at Homecoming by Dick Goslee, Student Council President. Chrysanthemum bouquets were presented to the royalty.

Then it was parade time. As some floats and incidents make every year distinctive, this year's floats contained many live animals and a city fire truck was used. It seems that one of the winning floats didn't have enough gas to finish the parade. Another float portraying a miniature coronation was minus one small king as a result of a child's sudden shyness. Our parade followed a slightly different pattern. Instead of the customary trip to the athletic field, the route took us down Main Street where steady rain failed to quench our spirits.

Homecoming Delights

A winning football season was climaxed by the Homecoming game in which our team came through with a 46-0 victory over Rochester. Sidelights to this main attraction included the display of royalty. Floats paraded following slight redecoration as a result of showers.

Finally, the anxiously awaited end to a memorable day and evening occurred as Rollo Sissell and his orchestra played for the largest crowd ever attending a high schooll mixer.

Sew the Patch

Dave Walker, Debby Blowers' date for the Dog Patch Hop, sits patiently as she sews patches, matching her own, on his jeans. All patched? Then on to the dance!

We're Thirsty

Between dances Debby, Dave, Barb Burton, and Ken Pack take it easy. They laugh as they watch other Hoppers attired in boots, sweatshirts, and patches.

We Came To Dance

This slow number was enjoyed by all—Debby and Dave too. Chuck Hall's orchestra furnished the music and even gave some of the peppy Hoppers a chance to polka.

Dog Patchers Hop

Girl ask boy—wear oldest clothing with patches—have a hilarious time. What is it? Why, it's the recipe for fun at the Dog Patch Hop, a fall dance sponsored by the SFC.

And it's, "Thank you and good-night," as Debby and Dave begin the homeward trek.

Merry Christmas to All

Decorations, carollers and assemblies liven the Christmas season at Austin High. Jim Goick, Marlene Torke, and Berneice Duken are kept busy shopping and planning for vacation.

Choose a Color

Berneice and Marlene shop at one of the local stores hoping to make the best selections. Stores are crowded with students on Saturdays, after school, and in the evenings.

Mail Early

With packages ready for mailing, Jim, Marlene, and Berneice decide to lighten their loads at the Post Office before continuing the day's excursion.

Mingle Socially

School mixers sponsored by various clubs have become a steady habit with many of our dancing enthusiasts. The typical mixer is held in the cafeteria and offers entertainment following games for most students. For the benefit of those who like refreshmants during the evening, concessions are usually provided by the sponsoring group.

Two featured mixers this year were the traditional WPA mixer and Dogpatch Hop for which girls dated boys and we came in jeans.

Music is generally furnished by records. However, we sometimes enjoy such bands as Chuck Hall's and Rollo Sissell's for variety. On one occasion, we had the advantage of the ten-piece band of Bob Harris because of illness in the five-piece band which had been engaged. Fast-music fans, those who prefer slow dance music, and even those who don't dance enjoy our well-attended mixers.

Take Homeroom Seats

Something new, because of the large number of students, were the split assemblies.

Assemblies covered subjects of general interest and each one was considered a treat. In the line of music, we had the orchestra and choir's annual presentations and the traditional Christmas community sing. A short religious play was given at the Christmas assembly this year. The University Players and Dirk and Bauble assemblies composed the dramatic programs we enjoyed. Among the favorites of our gatherings were the pep assemblies, of which Homecoming commands the greatest amount of interest.

We also appreciated and profited from the assemblies of a more serious nature. Included in these were a program of political interest concerned with the organization of World Federalists, a scientific demonstration on colors, and a speaker on the subjects of alcohol and gambling.

Join the Party

A casual, "How about a party tonight?" is all it takes in Austin to get things off to a rip-roaring start. Formal, informal, planned, or conjured on the spur-of-the-moment, parties with plenty of food and music are bound to be fun. Picnics, potlucks, and hen parties are popular.

We Get Together

Social life is very much a part of a well-rounded high school life. Our school mixers, club parties, and class get-to-gethers make up many wonderful evenings of fun. We Austinites have, of course, traditional festivites. Our Homecoming activities, WPA week, Senior Skip Day, Junior-Senior Field day, and Prom are never-to-be-forgotten events.

More frequent, however, are our informal gatherings—just the gang looking for something to do. "Oh, it's a perfect night for skating," shouts a restless student, so maybe the crowd goes skating. Perhaps, depending on various weather conditions, we toboggan, hike, picnic or decide on a cozy fire with lots of popcorn. Laughing and singing, we have fun in all we do.

We enjoy planning and decorating for private or open-house gatherings. All these activities plus our many friends make up a school social life that we'll never forget.

Months before the annual Junior-Senior Prom, committees begin to draw up plans for the gala affair, upper classmen are anticipating the long dreamed of evening.

Each year the task of making Prom preparations goes to the junior class. Invitations, posters, dance programs, tickets, publicity, and the selection of the band must be taken care of by the various working committees.

Long before May 31, girls begin worrying their mothers with the usual problems of colors for formals and suitable slippers and evening wraps. To the boys come the arrangements for cars and the finances. Boys and girls alike finally solve their difficulties and arrive at the ballroom in gay moods and all set for the evening of their lives.

Memories Last

The Terp ballroom was the scene of our 1950 Prom. Dancers thrilled to the dreamy music of Dick Finch's orchestra. Although there was no special theme, the dance programs followed the idea of "Halfway Through the Century," Austinian motif.

The hours of preparation were well rewarded as the seniors were royally entertained by the juniors.

The grand march, held in the middle of the evening was led by the class presidents and vice-presidents and their dates. After dancing and gaiety, the couples bid farewell to the chaperones and continued on to the many snacks and parties planned for after the Prom.

Fads Add Spice

It is inevitable that every year we have new and different fads. These are often in the line of clothes, as was the case when shoulder bags and boots appeared. Boots are of many colors and styles and can be found almost anywhere among both boys and girls. In jewelry, medallions are seen around necks. Girls sport very short hair and we see the end of last year's peroxide slowly growing out. Our boys returned after Christmas with a new crop of novel shirts in a variety of colors and styles. The trend seems to be for the boys to dress up more. Jeans and sweatshirts are fewer. The favorite material for all is 'cord,' with girls wearing it in jumpers and weskits. Scarves worn around the neck were back again this year.

Something new in our school this year was the departure of many of our boys to serve in the various branches of the armed services.

Arts Entertain

It is natural for us to think in terms of music, for music is all around us. From rhythm bands and simple nursery songs in the lower grades, to the final perfection of senior concerts, music groups make many public appearances. We attend music festivals and put the finishing touches on various special occasions.

Even though we may not be one of those who can take part in presenting the concerts, we like to hear them.

The dramatic groups are also an active part of our school curriculum. Thespians prepare the sophomores for the senior high dramatic club, Dirk and Bauble. Spring and fall plays, one act plays throughout the year, and special programs are presented by the senior high group. In March, members compete in the Big Nine Speech Festival.

Strings Make Music

The seventy-piece senior orchestra, directed by Paul Heltne, performs many times throughout the year. The chorus combined with the orchestra on October 17 to present the annual fall concert.

Leadership was in the able hands of Arlene Jacob as president. Warren Bigelow was vice president until he enlisted in the paratroopers. Sharon Fischer was secretary.

On January 23 the orchestra and band presented their regular winter concert. At the Christmas program, the string section in cooperation with the chorus and Dirk and Bauble provided background. In addition to a spring concert, the group played for the National Honor Society induction and for commencement.

All senior high music groups attended the annual music festival at Rochester in May. Instead of performing for only a few minutes as has been the custom in other years, each group had approximately an hour and a half. A special attraction was the parade in which all the ands of the Big Nine appeared.

The orchestra meets daily, and on Tuesdays and Thursdays band members attend. Mrs. Norene Sundal has special sessions with the strings.

Woodwind instruction is directed by Mr. Eugene Dunlap.

Majorettes Dana Furtney and Joan Knauer lead the junior band as it marched in the homecoming parade.

Students who have had no opportunity in grade school to play a musical instrument and have natural talent can start in junior high by joining the beginners' band.

Musicians learn basic fundamentals from Director C. V. Sperati, and each member progresses at his own speed. Later the learners serve as a feeding line to the senior band. This year the band numbered forty members.

We Love Our Band

Ask a member of the first band what the highlight of the year was, and it's ten to one he will name appearing at the state high schooll basketball tournament at Williams Arena.

Football or basketball games find the band always present. Weather is never an alibi for staying home. At one football game, while rain poured down band members stayed on although students left the stadium. Two hardy trumpeters, Bryce Wheeler and Gary Vance, played Austin's school song as the last touchdown was made on the drenched field.

Annual winter and spring concerts were presented by the band. As an exchange assembly, the band traveled to Rochester and gave a concert. A second opportunity for the band to appear in Rochester came at the basketball regional finals held in the Mayo Civic Auditorium. Favorite selections of band members and the student body are the fight songs, At the Gremlin Ball, and Schnitzelbaum. So much student enthusiasm was generated during one game that an announcer had to ask spectators to sit still or swing music would be discontinued. Students complied.

Because of a state ruling, the band was pared to 60 members for tournament appearances.

Officers were Lois Potter, president; Richard Brekke, vice president; and Helen Wheeler, secretary.

It Sets Our Mood

Thanks to William Hossick, boys' counselor, Austin boasts a new version of "Margie," used at late season basketball games.

"Margie"

Austin, we're always thinking of you.
Austin, we'll tell the world we love you.
Don't forget your promise to win.
We have got the team 'n pep 'n vim,
So Austin, you are our inspiration,
We are ever true.

Voices Sing

The Austin High School senior high school chorus is composed of ninety-five voices under the direction of Paul Heltne. It made its first public appearance in a concert with the orchestra in the fall.

Christmas wouldn't be Christmas without the chorus, but perhaps the most entertaining concert of the year was presented on April 3. The performance was entitled "It's a Grand Night for Singing" and featured such numbers as "Oh, What a Beautiful Morning," "Come to the Fair," "The Whiffenpoof Song," and "The Battle Hymn of the Republic." Lois Cummings was piano soloist with the "Rhapsody in Blue."

Joan Nelson served as president, Bill Noun was vice president, and Donna Hanson was secretary.

Students were thrown into an uproar over the appearance of a faculty band at a pep fest. Ill-fitting caps and too-small capes of the second band were worn. J. A. Ranum directed the group, and Vern Ojanpa did a spectacular job on the bass drum. Principal Ray Wescott on snare drums won student admiration by failing to watch the director.

Listen to Music

Junior high school vocalists joined the junior high chorus which is directed by Mrs. Agnes Sjoquist.

Daily rehearsal is held fourth hour. Together with the senior high chorus, the group participated in the Christmas program.

Largest in the history of the school is this year's junior orchestra which boasts of ninety-three members. On Back-to-School Night, this group played for the visitors.

Early in May, all junior high school music groups combined to present a concert.

The Play Is On

Dirk and Bauble membership system has been completely changed. All juniors and seniors interested in acting or working with dramatics are eligible to become associate members. Those people earning twenty-five points or more are on the regular member list for the next year.

Miss Gretchen Myers is the supervisor of the group. Spring and fall plays have taken the place of junior and senior class plays.

This year two 3-act plays were given and special departments were set up for those interseted in radio work, extemporaneous speaking, and others. A number of one-act plays were given to clubs and throughout the school and city.

Grace Randall was president, Madge Moen, vice president; Jean Mooney, secretary; and Jerry Marsh, treasurer.

Actors Rehearse

Lights! Curtain! Action!

That is just how it began on the evening of May 16 when Dirk and Bauble presented the mystery-comedy, "Ramshackle Inn." From the dimming of the house lights to the falling of the last curtain, the audience sat transfixed with suspense.

Usually it is enough to have one murder in a play, but "Ramshackle Inn" was different—it had three. After a black market racket was uncovered in the basement of an inn, a famous investigator was discovered in the cast of characters. The story progressed to free an innocent man from prison.

Because Easter vacation fell early, and because the student body was supporting the basketball team through its hair-raising tournaments, the play was not presented as scheduled at an earlier date.

Crew chairmen included JoAn McGinninty, publicity; Verle Peterson, makeup and costume; Dick Lees, stage; and Marilyn Kohlwes, properties. Miss Gretchen Myers directed the production.

Drama Club Inducts

The Thespians are composed entirely of sophomores directed by Miss Lorna D. Bates. The group meets twice monthly. This year the Thespians presented 3 one-act plays.

Tryouts for members are planned by Miss Bates. This year there are no assistants. The club gives the students a chance to get acquainted with the act of applying make-up, they learn stage terms, and how to direct plays.

Initiation is held each fall for the sophomores by the junior members of the previous year. The initiation committee gets together and decides on the costume to be worn. It ranges all the way from ladies in gunny sacks to boys in ladies' apparel.

Thespians is a stepping stone for Dirk and Bauble. It is not necessary to be a member of the sophomore group to become a member of Dirk and Bauble.

Officers of this year's club were: president, Gayle Rosebrock; vice president, Solveig Strand; secretary, Jean Smith; and treasurer, Shirley Bowers.

At the meetings throughout the year short unrehearsed plays are given to the club. The points earned in Thespians give no credit in the senior high drama club, but students are given an opportunity to act and appear before audiences.

Thespians Act

The 3 one-act plays given this year were "What's in a Name," "Twelve O'clock Murder," and "Farewell, Cruel World."

"What's in a Name" was given early in the year to the junior high assembly. Pat Knutson, Joan Knauer, Lois Ottjes, Sandra Christenson, Charles McKallor, and Allen Skogerbo were in the cast. The assistant director was Solveig Strand.

"Twelve O'clock Murder" was set in a large rooming house. The weather was very bad so there were many roomers. Diane Van Reed (Joanne Guyette) had a dream of being murdered at twelve o'clock that night. At twelve the lights went out. The three members of the house plotted the murder but the private detective, Charlie McKallor, saw through their plan. The three were taken to the police for further investigation. Student director of the play was Delores Baumgartner.

The second play presented that day was "Farewell, Cruel World". It's cast was as follows: Shirley Bower, Dorothy Dalquist, and David Larsen. The student director was Angela Bates.

Curtain Goes Up

"Family Circle," the fall play as dramatized by Anne Martens from the book by Cornelia Otis Skinner, left the audience in gales of laughter.

The play centered around Cornelia whose parents wanted her to go to college. At their home constantly was Mab, Cornelia's best friend.

One of the scenes which convulsed the audience was the one on which the two girls were practicing their Shakespearian plays which were to be presented at their school.

An elephant, a tiger, a French poodle, and a dying swan were portrayed. According to the interpretation of Grace Randall (Mab) the elephant used one arm as a swaying trunk and the other as a tail. Occasionally she would trumpet. Jean Mooney was the French poodle who curled up on the davenport and howled, and Joann Orcutt (Cornelia) swayed as the dying swan.

Cornelia's ambitions to act were fulfilled when her father found her a part in a play in Washington. Although she expected to be a leading lady, she accepted the role of a maid.

Miss Gretchen Myers directed the production; Jackie Davis was student director.

Packers Win State

Coach Harold "Red" Hastings' 1950 Packer squad had a terrific year. His team won nine straight games extending their winning streak to 22 games without a defeat. The Packers finished on top of the Big Nine.

Winning their nine seasonal games over tough opposition, Austin was named second-time winner of the statewide Litkenhous rating. Many experts called the 1950 aggregation the greatest in Austin's football history.

"Sky" Wilcox and Harry Elliott did an outstanding job in assisting Coach Hastings. Mr. Wilcox helped the linemen while Mr. Elliott worked with backfield men.

Bill Redman, Dale Hamilton, Dick Lees, and Ed Zimmerman were elected captains of the championship team.

Grid Battle Reviewed

Mechanic Arts Smothered 47-0

Before the 1950 season was more than 30 seconds old, Austin led 7-0 on Jim Woolsey's sensational 83-yard touchdown sprint. Led by fullback Ed Zimmerman, the Packers rolled up 40 more points before ending the game.

Snyder, Lewis, Dale, Jan, Anderson, Bawek, Holton, Marsh.

St. Cloud Battered 24-0

Austin found their new northern foe, St. Cloud much to their liking. Ed Zimmerman, Dick Lees, and place-kicking specialist Jerry Marsh did the scoring.

Owatonna Overpowered 39-6

The Packers proved conclusively they were to be regarded as a strong threat for another Big Nine title by throttling Owatonna 39-6. Dick Lees had his best night, scoring three touchdowns and directing his team without an error. Ed Zimmerman, Ken Pack, and Jim Jeffers each scored once.

Season Has Highlights

Rochester Routed 46-0

Outclassing the Rockets all the way, Austin made their annual Homecoming game a big success. The alert defensive play of center Rishavy and the spirited running of Lees, Don Rasmussen, Woolsey, Zimmerman, and Jeffers highlighted the game.

Red Wing Downed 28-0

A stubborn Red Wing team held the Packers in check for three quarters. Austin finally got rolling in the fourth quarter, scoring three touchdowns in rapid succession. Zimmerman, Pack, and Marsh sparked the offense, while Barnett, Arnold, Bawek, and Hamilton were outstanding on defense.

Albert Lea Edged 21-6

Inspired by hopes for a homecoming upset, the Tigers battled Austin right down to the wire, but the Tigers couldn't stop the Packer attack. Austin's well-earned victory was marred when Dick Lees hurt his knee and was lost for the rest of the season. The Rasmussen twins and Bob Hastings led Austin's attack.

Packers Roar Through Campaign

An undefeated season, that was the accomplishment of Ove Berven's 1950-1951 basketball team. In winning the District II, Region I, and Big Nine titles, the Packers extended their winning streak to 19 straight games.

Gilbert defeated Austin in the first round of the State Tournament to end the string. Bervenmen also set a new scoring record by pouring in 931 points in regular season play.

Assistant coach was Nat Goudy.

Packers Win Openers

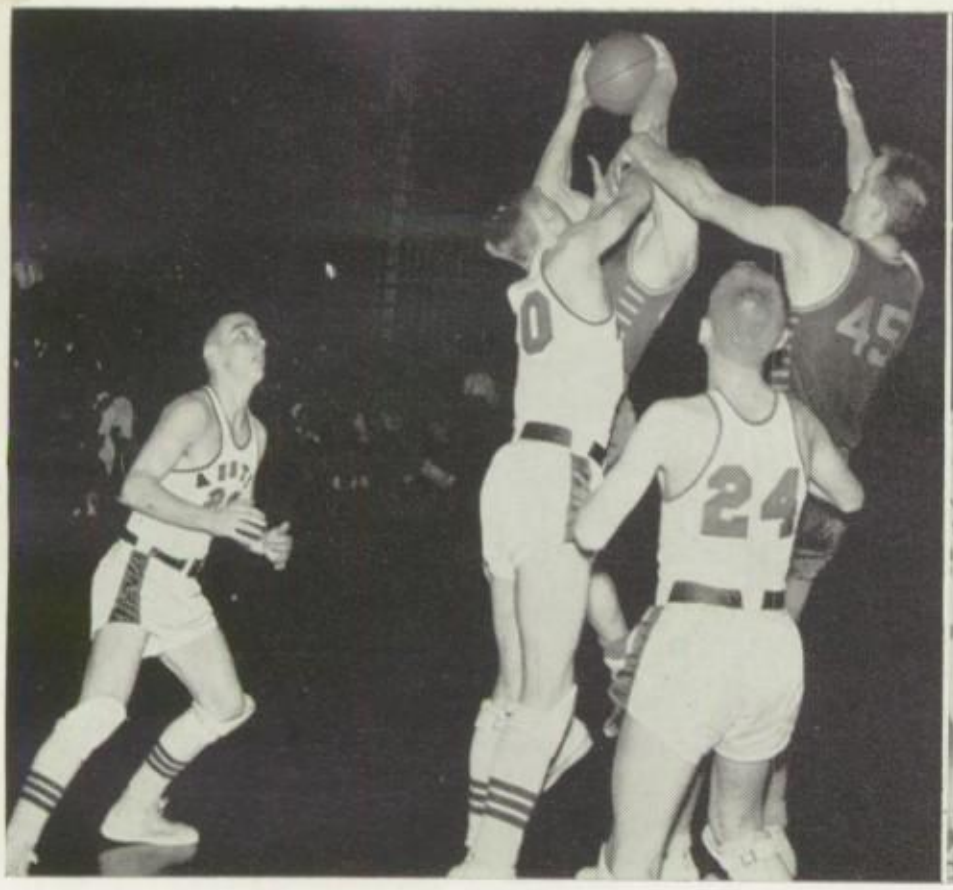
In a typical opening season game, Austin had little trouble throttling a small but scrappy Minneapolis South team 52-39. Junior forward Dave Dale took scoring honors with 15 points. Don Miller was close behind with 9.

Another Twin City school, Minneapolis Humboldt, went down in defeat to the Packers 45-40. Both coaches substituted freely which resulted in a very ragged game. Dave Dale and Jack Gildner tied for scoring honors for the winners with 11 points each.

Playing an improved brand of ball. the Packers downed a sharpshooting aggressive Edison team 43-35. Burdette Haldorson's improved play and the outstanding pressing tactics of the Rasmussen twins turned the tide.

Austin sucessfully launched their bid for another Big Nine title with an impressive 76-60 victory over Rochester. Burdette Haldorson and Jack Gildner led the attack with 28 and 23 points respectively.

Traveling to Albert Lea, Austin racked up their second conference victory by nudging the favored Tigers 59-53. The win was somewhat dimmed when it was learned that reliable guard Dale Hamilton was lost to the team because of a foot injury.



Season Progresses

Winona became Austin's sixth victim, falling to the powerful Packers 65-49. Big Burdette Haldorson poured in 31 points to lead his team to victory.

A new rivalry was established as Austin edged St. Louis Park 57-54. Sparked by Burdette Haldorson and the long range shooting of the Rasmussen twins, Austin rallied from a 5-point halftime deficit to win by 3 points.

The Mankato Scarlets couldn't keep pace with the hot shooting Packers. Austin potted nine out of eighteen shots in the first quarter and went on to win 70-53. This was the eighth straight victory for Ove Berven's high-scoring team.

Austin bumped Owatonna for their fifth conference win 60-41. Owatonna's pressing tactics made the game a rough one with a total of 51 fouls called.

A fighting but outclassed Falcon team couldn't match Austin's superior height and shooting ability as the Packers romped to an easy 67-48 triumph. This was the tenth win in a row for Ove Berven's team.

Playing one of their best games of the year, Austin again dumped Albert Lea 68-53. The Packer's balanced scoring was the outstanding feature in the victory.

Cagers Take Big Nine

It took a late Austin rally for the Packers to gain a 59-53 victory over an inspired Rochester team. The rally was climaxed when reserve forward Jerry Marsh scored the winning basket. In winning, the Packers cinched another Big Nine title. It was the second straight year that the Packers have copped the championship.

Austin stretched their winning streak to 13 straight with a 75-56 decision over Northfield. Burdette Haldorson and Dale Hamilton led the Packer attack with 28 and 16 points respectively.

After returning from Northfield, the powerful Packers dropped an undermanned Carleton Freshman team 75-56. Austin led all the way to rack up their fourteenth win.

Austin finishded a very successful season with an impressive 66-40 win over a rangy Red Wing team.

The Packers were especially sharp defensively as the Wingers got few good shots.

Burdette Haldorson dropped 31 points which raised his total to 254 for a new conference scoring record.

Packers Win District

The high scoring Austin Packers grabbed the District II title by compiling twin victories over Albert Lea and Blooming Prairie.

Balanced scoring, tough rebounding, and the desire to win proved a tough barrier for the opponent in each game.

The Packers and Albert Lea battled on even terms for nearly three quarters. An Albert Lea rally threatened in the fourth period, but Austin recovered and went on to win 75-69.

The Packers possessed too much height and shooting ability for the inspired Blossoms and they again came through with a 93-65 triumph. All five Packer regulars hit the net for double figures.

Austin Cops Regional

By downing the Owatonna Indians 81-55 and the Rochester Rockets 59-57, Austin won the Region I title. Austin was hot in the first half of the Owatonna game.

Playing before a capacity crowd at Mayo Civic Auditorium, Austin displayed the form of a true champion by overcoming a 3 point deficit in the waning seconds of play.

Record Marred at State

The 1951 Austin Packers entered the state basketball tourney with a season's record yet to be marred. However, Gilbert and its 6'9" center quickly halted the Packer victory string with a stunning 67-56 setback. Austin rapped St. Paul Monroe in the consolation series, but tasted defeat again at the hands of a fine Hopkins quint 41-31.

Bees Win Alternate Games

The B squad basketball team under the astute coaching of Blair Hainer finished the 1950-51 cage season with an even record of wins and losses. The B's won six and lost six, but four of their losses were by the narrow margins of one or two points. The team improved as the season progressed, and they turned in their best performance of the year in the final game against Red Wing when they won 34-24.

Ted Colescott, Ken Pederson, Tom Togas, Bob Hastings, Jim Grothe, and Dave Meyer were the outstanding performers on this year's team.

GAA Holds Tournies

GAA basketball teams played a round robin tournament with the winners receiving medals. Ann Hainer captained the outstanding basketball team.

Senior high GAA under the supervision of Miss Dorothy Hoos has been active in basketball, volleyball, and bowling.

GAA members in grades 7-10 participated in junior life saving directed by Mis Velma Bro. After the completion of this course, members were awarded junior life saving badges.

Girls Study Home Economics

Girls can learn to be good citizens by working on various projects in Future Homemakers of America. They learn to take part in social activities at home, school, and in the community.

A national meeting in Estes Park, Colorado, will be attended by Pat Knutson, the district vice president. Austin will have its turn in holding a district meeting for 200 delegates this fall.

During the spring, rural students came to get aquanted with our school since they will be attending it in the fall. Members of the Student Council acted as guides to show them around.

This year, it was voted that the Junior High School be represented at the meetings. In this way, younger students learn the functions of Student Council.

Staffs Play

Efficient reporters, capable staff heads, and reliable photographers worked together in the bustling journalism room to produce the Sentinel, consistent All-American newspaper. Witty columns, a thorough coverage of all school activities, and a complete sports roundup were displayed in every issue of the Sentinel under the industrious leadership of Frances Flitton, Marjorie Kirkpatrick, Elizabeth Kautz, Constance Keller, and Jerry Marsh. Hilda Montgomery took care of the reporting for the Austin Daily Herald. Miss Rosalie Critchfield is Sentinel adviser.

To exchange ideas and meet fellow journalists, eight delegates from the publications staff attended the State Press Convention in Minneapolis. One of the noted speakers on the program was Governor Youngdahl.

Frances Flitton, Sentinel editor, went still farther afield when she attended the National Press Convention held in Chicago at Thanksgiving time.

Twelve new members were added to the membership of Quill and Scroll, international society for high school journalists. They included Elizabeth Wells, Bill Redman, Fred Requa, Jack Gildner, Marilyn Kohlwes, Ronald Harber, Jane Plager, Marilyn Patterson, Constance Keller, Dale Anderson, Roger Dunnette, and Norma Kerling.

Joe Schmoe, a typical boy attending Austin High as a senior, was voted by this year's staff to be the theme of the '51 yearbook. Chuck Christianson and Ardeth Miller did the cartooning and the entire staff labored with the silk screening.

Yuletide merriment was provided at the Flitton's home where the publication staffs held their Christmas potluck. Although tempting sprigs of misletoe hung over the doorways, the staffs played canasta and checkers, and danced to records.

Club Serves All

To start the meetings of Junior High Friendship Club this year, a big get-acquainted party was held. New students had a chance to make new friends and feel more at home in Austin's growing school.

The main purpose of this club is to cultivate friendship through the social functions they hold during the year. Other activities include a welfare project and an annual Posture Contest. The fourth one was held this year. The junior high girl with the best posture is crowned queen.

Club Work Is Fun

The Friendship Christmas meeting was in the form of a Mother-Daughter Tea. Girls brought their mothers and they had a chance to get acquainted with teachers and other mothers. Fun was had by all at the picnic held in the spring.

Advisers for the seventh grade are Miss Eleanor Carlson, Miss Rose Deutschman, and Mrs. Francoise Denny; for the eighth grade, Miss Marguerite Daily, and Miss Amanda Horvie; for the ninth grade, Mrs. Betty Schnorenberg, Miss Alice Campbell, and Miss Bernice Berg.

Club Offers Seasonal Recreation

Early in the fall, Camera Club took a field trip to Todd Park, where the members took both scenic and human interest shots. After developing and enlarging these prints, Messrs. Gordon Fogdall and Earl Brooks, advisers of the club, offered criticisms, both good and bad.

At various meetings throughout the year, pictures were developed, enlarged, and then judged on the basis of quality, composition, sharpness and background. They were then given individual honors.

As a surprise to the shutterbugs at the March meeting, advisers divided the club into two groups and took them to their homes, which are equipped with all of the conveniences for modern photography. Each of the groups chose their own models, and made portraits. The students had a chance to see how the home darkroom might look, and were also given ideas for setting up a darkroom in their own homes.

Each club member is required to use the darkroom at school at least two hours each month, during study halls or after school. It is equipped with a developing tank, two enlargers, and three contact printers.

Officers for this year were: president, Benadine Patch; vice president, Don Knutson, and secretary-treasurer Jo Ann Weber.

Visual Aid Continues

Mr. Fogdall's aim is to get movies out of the auditorium and into the classroom where they are more beneficial to the students. However, this plan requires more work and he had 23 helpers this year.

Carl Tesch and Marvin Foster had a "thankless job". They worked in Mr. Fogdall's office sixth hour every day and after school moving the equipment that had been used during the day. This included the task of taking down curtains, screens, dismantling projectors and getting all of this equipment moved to another room for the next day.

Mr. Fogdall's helpers must be given credit for helping the students to benefit through visual aid.

Austin's local chapter of FFA is the largest in the state and is self-supporting through fund-raising activities on the part of the boys. It participates in district and state judging contest and in large supervised farming programs concentrating on livestock production.

Dale Rugg, class of 1949, was named American Farmer, an honor that has been given to only five Austinites since 1931. This is the highest degree of achievement in the FFA organization. To qualify for this honor, a boy must be out of high school.

Hi-Y Builds Character

Development of good citizenship is the aim of all boys belonging to Hi-Y, one of the leading service organizations in Austin High. Any worth-while project can always count on the backing of this club.

Unsung heroes are the ushers who were on the job for 32 events this year including class plays, concerts, and basketball games. These faithful boys took part in a heavy schedule, and are deserving of all the praise they get from the students and faculty.

Ushers Participate

Many Hi-Y carpenters co-operated with some Student Council members in order to build and fill a Red Cross chest with toys and other items to be sent abroad for Europeans.

During the Yuletide season, the boys sold Y's Men's Christmas tree tickets, contributed to the Salvation Army, and packed a box of gifts for the State School at Faribault.

After Easter, Hi-Y members attended one church to commemorate "All-Church" Sunday. At various meetings throughout the year, local ministers spoke to them on Christian character. Planning future meetings, programs, and projects are a few of the duties of the governing body, the cabinet. Regular meetings are held twice monthly in one of the adviser's rooms.

Officers of the senior division this year were: president, Dick Dastyck; vice president, Duane Noble; secretary, Chuck Christianson; treasurer, Ronald McCoy; chaplain, James Runquist; usher captain, Philip Denny; business manager, William Butler.

Membership Open to All Girls

A big success this year was the Dog Patch Hop, a mixer sponsored by SFC in place of a November meeting. It was a girl date boy dance and most of the "Daisy Maes" snared "Li'l Abners" for the costume affair. Matching patches on the dates' overalls, corncob pipes, (no tobaccy) and fancy hats prevailed. Co-chairman of this mixer were Joan McGinnity and Betty Rasmussen.

Twenty questions made many a girl's cheeks pink with laughter or embarassment at the October get acquainted meeting which was held in the auditorium.

"I do", the sacred vow that is usually spoken with solemn sincerity, was just one part of the hilarious mock wedding performed by three natural born SFC comedians at the January meeting. A floor spread, with sack lunches and all, was held in the cafeteria preceding the program.

Cabinet Plans Meetings

For the purpose of discussing ways of improving the club and planning regular meetings, the cabinet meets twice monthly. Most of the responsibility of the SFC meetings falls on the shoulders of the girls elected to the cabinet. Each month two of these girls act as co-chairmen of that meeting.

Officers for this year were: president, Mary Lou Regner: vice president, Lois Potter; secretary, Barbara Gaddis; and treasurer, Donna Hanson.

This year the faculty advisers were Misses Lena B. Grinley, Mary Yocum, Abigail Moore and Jean Dahling.

Women Pay All

The story of Cinderella and Prince Charming was the appropriate theme for this year's WPA activities. To start the activities, the girls signed their date's name at the attractive and cleverly decorated booth. An air of excitement reigned over the booth which was always buzzing with students, and inquiring faculty members. At the booth, tags were issued with a golden slipper on which was written the quotation, "Some day my prince will come."

Between classes, boys willingly piled their books "sky high" in the arms of girls, who could offer no objections. Other co-eds were seen opening the doors for the gents, and rationing their allowances in order to buy tickets for the movies, basketball game, and mixer. Many Austin males ate better during those three days than the girls do throughout the entire school year. After a wonderful time at the gayly decorated mixer, the girls escorted their fellows home, happy and contented, but broke!

WPA week was held instead of a regular February meeting. Co-chairmen for this meeting were Betty Rasmussen, Liz Wells, and Donna Hanson.

WORK

Setting Our Sights

Everybody wants to be a senior, but being a lower classman is something to be proud of at Austin, Minnesota. Earning senior status is worth working and waiting for, according to the students at Austin.

Boys and girls in seventh and eighth grades are allowed one elective such as junior band, junior orchestra, home economics or shop. Ninth graders are offered mechanical drawing, special art, language, basic math, and algebra. Such subjects introduce them to senior high courses.

Since many upper classmen are bread and butter earners, the rousing enthusiasm and cheers and laughter at sports events are most often seen and heard from a majority of the younger students. However, attendance at evening social affairs is an extra privilege strictly reserved for grades nine through twelve.

Keeping the rooms neat and clean as well as decorative has become students' projects. All such activities are stepping stones to becoming good future seniors and citizens.

Get in Shape

Games, sports and calisthenics are highlights of the seventh grade gym classes. Bonnie Van Vleet, Jane Perry, Rosella McAlister, Margart Anderson, Norma Traff and Sharon Wendorf demonstrate complicated tricks done with a polo stick.

Help Lost Students

"Four minutes between classes! I'll never make it." This is a common remark by the 7th graders. Students attending Austin's grade schools are oriented to the high school one day in the spring, but rural students may not have this opportunity. Everyone is helpful though and soon they are telling someone else where to find a room.

Arrange Schedules

For the first time in their school years, freshmen are allowed to elect some of their own subjects. Only with careful study, consideration, and much help from parents and teachers can the freshmen of Austin High select the right subjects.

We Choose Leaders

The friendly officers of the tenth grade class include Richard Anderson, vice-president, Denny Anderson, secretary, Barb Lewis, treasurer, and Jim Grothe, president. These officers have no specific duties, but are often seen laughing and joking with others.

Off to Work We Go

Class Officers Meet
Ken Pack, Dona Arnold, Phyllis Nagel, Joan Nelson.

Planning senior skip day activities, handling commencement tickets, selecting senior graduation announcements, and representing seniors by taking their ideas to the administration are the duties of the twelfth grade officers. The leaders chosen by the 1951 class voters are Ken Pack, president; Dona Arnold, vice-president; Phyllis Nagel, secretary; Joan Nelson, treasurer.

The day life of Austin students consists of studying and learning. Through years of book reading, class films, lectures, assemblies, quarter and final tests, a student comes to the end of his senior year with an all-around knowledge. With this knowledge, he should be able to face the world on his own two feet.

After a day at school, night life approaches and we find the students at their leisure moments. Much of the social life is found at games, mixers, club meetings, parties and dates. For seniors especially, social life is an important factor, for it contributes much to their education and personalities. For most seniors, though, "night life" consists of part-time employment, but this also helps the students to become more dependent upon themselves as individuals.

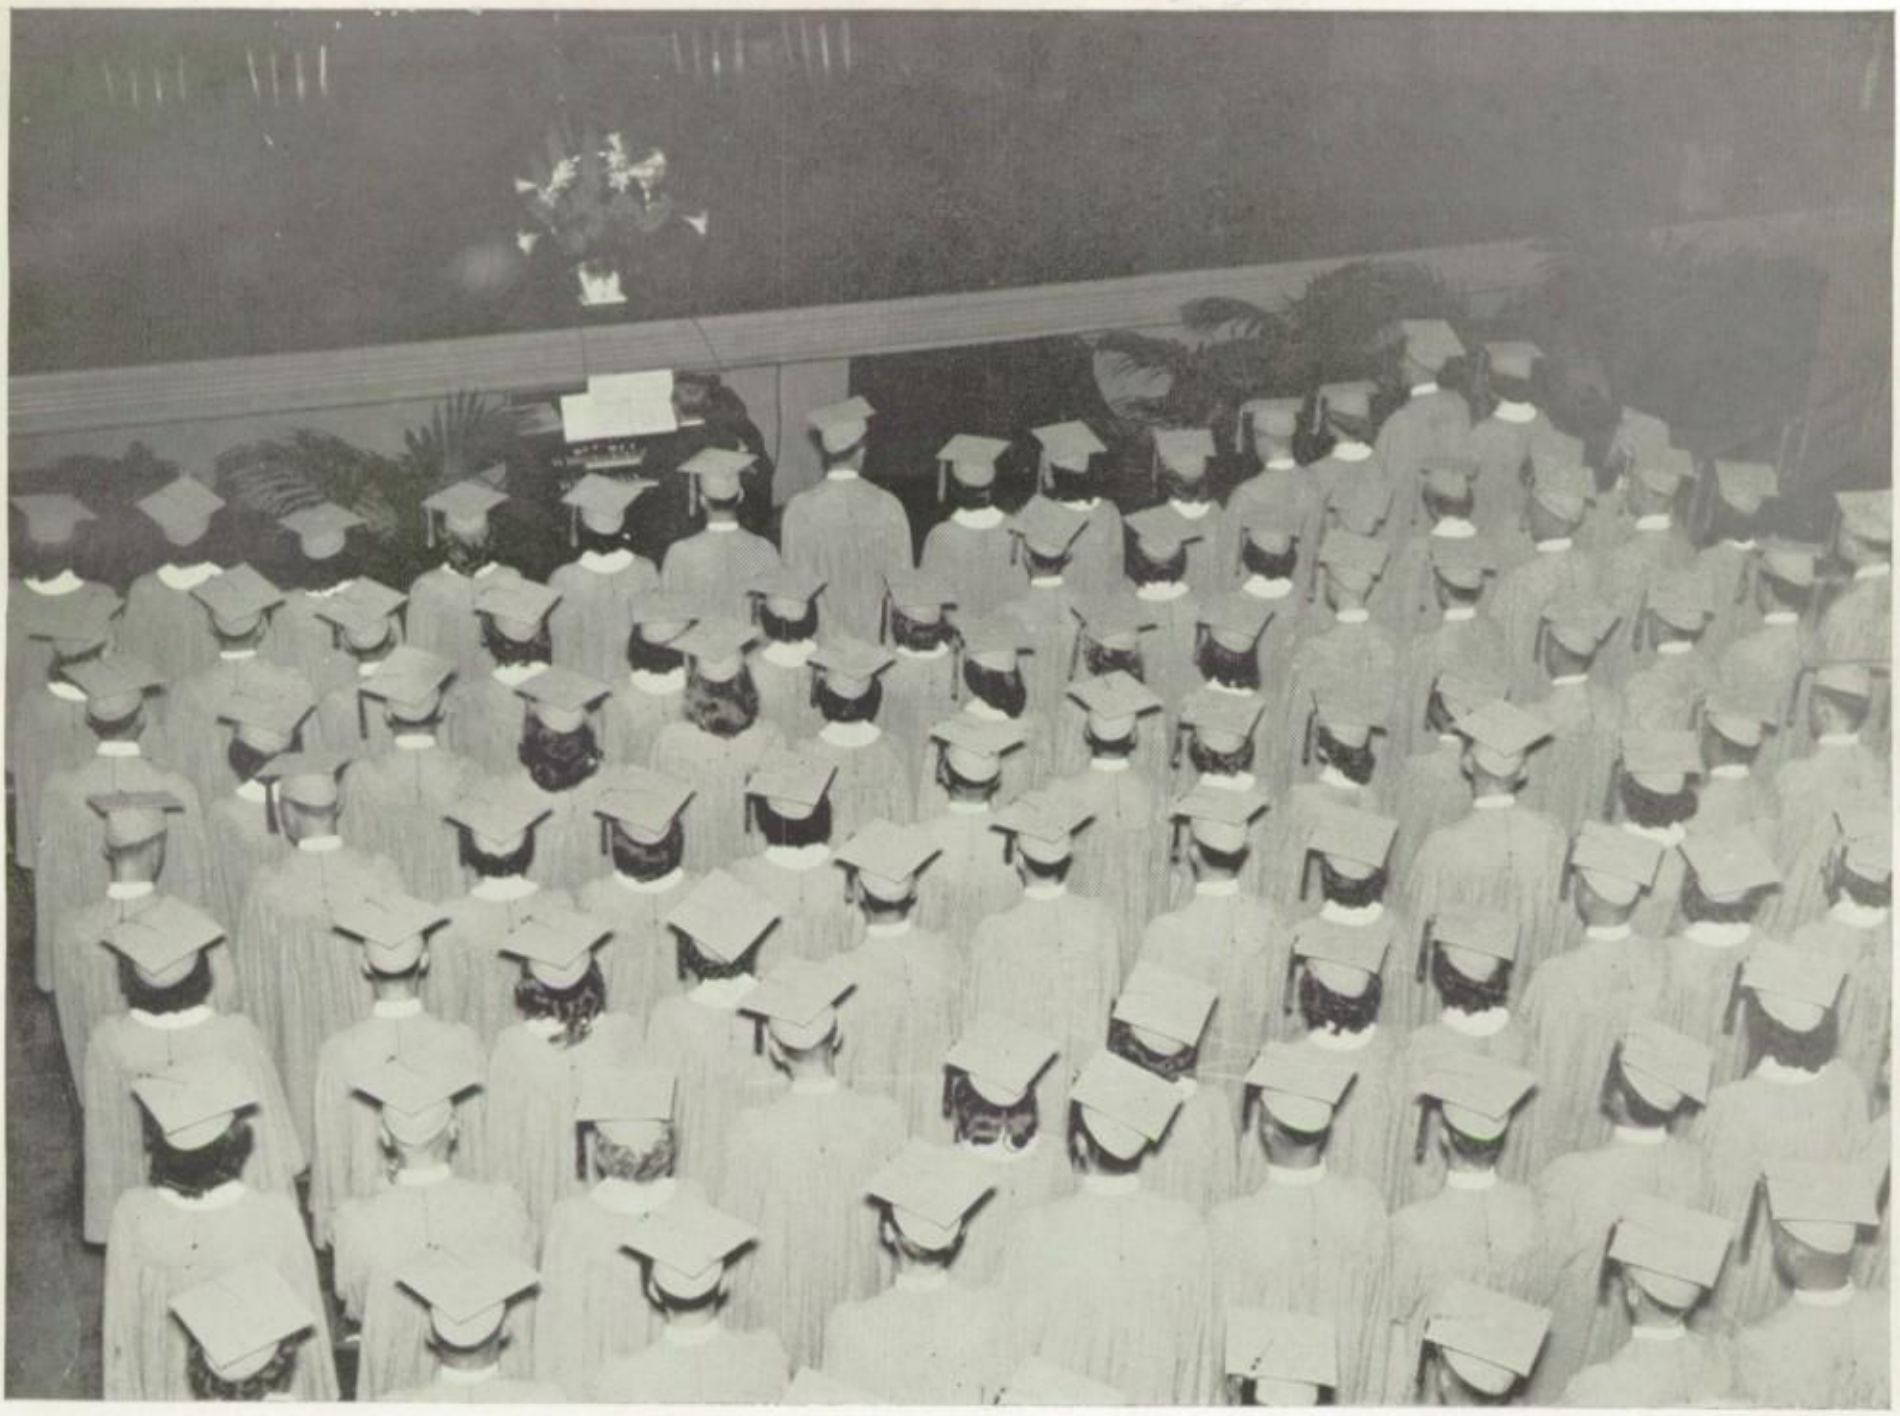
Plan for College

One problem of the senior is, "Where am I going next year?" Those planning on college seek help from Miss Lena Grinley, girls' counselor. Seated are Grace Randall, Miss Lena Grinley, and Liz Wells; standing, Marilyn Patterson and Norma Jean Kerling.



Seniors Don Caps and Gowns

For twelve years, seniors have studied and looked forward to graduation. Finally the great night comes, and they hold in their hands the diploma which means they have reached their goal.

Seniors long to hold more than the diploma, too. Unruly tassels on the traditional mortar board caps bob and dance in rhythm to the march of tired feet. One of the mysteries of graduation routine is the lack of fit for caps and gowns which have been measured to size. Girls, wearing new high-heeled pumps, concentrate on the unaccustomed heels while their gowns wrap around their ankles. Boys long to loosen the precise knot of the new tie which tops a starched white shirt.

Proud parents are misty-eyed as they watch sons and daughters newly adult and dignified in their formal attire. The thrill of graduating is lessened for seniors by the sadness of leaving high school.

Supt. L. S. Harbo — Principal R M. Wescott — Assistant Principal D. L. Warren

Leaders Work with Board

1951 marks the second year in Austin for Supt. L. S. Harbo who came from Winona to head the Austin Public Schools. Managing the grade schools, high school, and junior college, and selecting a faculty are but a few of the many duties that occupy his time.

Mr. Harbo is ably assisted in his work by the school board which is elected by the voters of the community. Setting up and distributing the budget and selecting the superintendent are the specific tasks of the board.

The big jobs of scheduling classes, keeping the school running smoothly, and being a general adviser to students and teachers are all handled by Principal Ray M. Wescott. Heading the attendance office where makeup slips and tardy slips are issued is Assistant Principal Doron L. Warren.

Advisers, Staff Cooperate

Counselors Lena B. Grinley and William Hossick are ready and willing to listen to student problems.

Administering tests of basic knowledge, college aptitudes, interest tests, and intelligence tests is all part of the day's work for the counselors. Another important job is assisting students to choose a vocation or a college or both. A library of college catalogues is available to those who are interested.

Advice and sympathetic understanding are yours for the asking if you will consult either of the counselors.

Mr. Harold Kannady, coordinator, has the task of finding the right person for the right job. His office serves as a placement bureau for part-time workers and for graduating seniors who want full-time jobs.

Handling the financial and business affairs of all of the Austin Public Schools, Mr. S. L. Coumbe is a busy man. The indispensable secretarial staff takes care of the office details and helps the administrators.

Newly added to the staff this year is Mrs. Yvonne Hammer who handles the secretarial assignments of the counselors and the coordinator.

Population Increases

The Austin high school faculty count is above 90 in 1950-1951 with every prospect that it will increase as the student enrollment continues to clmb.

Schools are populated by rural as well as town dwellers, and yellow and green buses vie for parking space as they let out or pick up passengers.

A SHOAT STORY

This is the saga of Snoutley . . . the young pig who, as he approached hamhood, couldn't decide what he wanted to do in life.

Other little pigs were all set for higher loining,* the swine arts, and so on. But Snoutley just loafed along.

His mother worried. "Snoutley" she'd say, as she was kneading her special porker-house rolls, "When your grandfather Pignewton was your age, he was starring in Hamlet . . . I'll beg, barrow or steal to help you, but you MUST make up your mind."

"Ah sow what," Snoutley would mutter, feigning an air of boardom. But underneath it all, he was worried. He felt anxiety in his very bacon.

Then one day it happened. As Snoutley was walking along, jaunty in his pork-pie hat and humming the Maine Swine Song, he saw it. He saw a billboard that spelled out, in capital litters, "COLD OR HOT, SPAM HITS THE SPOT."

Instantly, Snoutley knew. There was his destiny. From bristle to bustle, his whole being was exalted. The very best of Snoutley . . . the juicy pork shoulder, the mild tender ham . . . would go into America's foremost 12-ounce luncheon meat.

So ends the saga of Snoutley. He reached the heights. He became a SPAM of distinction.

Seventy-four Years Ago

In 1877, when the first class graduated from Austin High School, this Bank was already 9 years old. Founded in 1868, we have been proud to count among our depositors hundreds of the young men and women who laid the foundation of their education at Austin High—and their parents before them.

To every member of this year's graduating class we extend a cordial invitation to use the services of the First National. You'll find us ready to demonstrate that "a good bank is a good friend."
